

How does Obama-mania connect to humanist values?

What is at stake with humanities research in today's political and economic climate?

How can the humanities challenge their own values and survive their ever-shrinking academic domain?

What is the relationship between humanities and human rights?

Interested in these and related issues?
Then come to hear one of Canada's leading humanists

Dr. Len Findlay

Professor of English

Director, Humanities Research Unit, University of Saskatchewan

Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada

Member of the Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee of CAUT

author of Oral Cultures and Book History (forthcoming, UTP)

and co-editor of Pursuing Academic Freedom: 'Free and Fearless?' (Purich 2001)

"From Extraordinary Renditions to Ordinary Hope: Recent Events Through a Humanities Lens"

4:30-5:30 pm

March 18, 2009

TransCanada Institute

9 University Ave. E.

University of Guelph

Guelph, ON

transCanada
— INSTITUTE —

Canada Research
Chairs

Chaires de recherche
du Canada

Canada

